Heritage Property Tax Rebate Programs

Program

Under the Municipal Act, 2001, municipalities may give tax relief to owners of eligible heritage properties by passing a by-law creating a heritage property tax relief program. The province gives municipalities the flexibility they need to adapt their program to local circumstances. Municipalities can set the amount of tax relief they offer within the guidelines of 10 per cent to 40 per cent. To date, 40 municipalities across Ontario have passed a by-law for heritage property tax relief.

Municipalities may also have special eligibility criteria in addition to those prescribed in the provincial legislation. The heritage property tax rebate program is funded by the province, which funds the education portion of the property tax relief.
